Onsite Gender Page Audit: part 2

- New Spring Looks
- In the SS27 season, lightweight layering is important program to push to our men’s shoppers as
- temperatures start rising. You are asked to propose a redesign of the men’s brand home page on our
- German webshop to officially launch the hero campaign of the season "New Spring Looks."
- Please prepare a proposal for the men’s brand home page that reflects the campaign priorities and
- covers the following:
- • The page structure: the order of the teasers/banners including the hero teaser, category and
- product modules, with the reasons for that order.
- • Sketch the hero creative and copy you recommend. Explain why it fits the set campaign goal.
- • One change for the app, which should differ from the desktop version.
- • The main KPIs for the page
- • Any content you would remove or deprioritize, and why

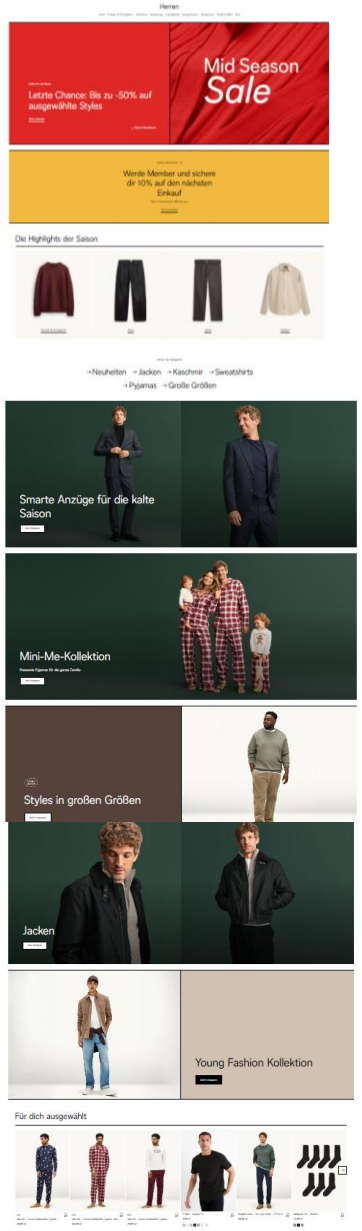

Inputs provided
• Global marketing calendar directive: New Spring Looks, focus on layering and building spring-ready full looks
• Hero product: Denim from 29.99 EUR
• Key sales drivers for the season: denim, t-shirts, polos, lightweight outerwear
• Current men’s home page wireframe: hero banner and the additional category/product
modules
• Brand guidelines: practical, understated tone; no exclamation marks in hero copy.
Feel free to use any imagery and/or tools that would help you visualize your concept. Keep in mind that we do not expect a polished design, rather we are interested in your way of thinking when setting up the page.

Audit

1 What improvements would I implement?

- Sale teaser: category buttons to facilitate the shop
- Highlights of the season: with a price bestseller article right below
- Category links: We would keep, because Men's shoppers are category drivers, only the order would be reviewed.
- Teasers according to relevance: remove family pajamas, it is a topic than we can explore further, no other retailer is talking about mini me collection. The order will be changed according to behavior/ customer demand
- Personalization: recently viewed, sizes in stock

2 Which data points would I use?

- Behaviour (analytics):
- Traffic sources, CTR , scroll depth, exit rate, path to PDP and basket
- In Dawaca: 10 most clicked teasers
- Customer analytics:
- Internal search analysis, heatmaps (content square/ hotjar)
- Commercial:
- Benchmark

3 How would I validate the ideas?

A/B tests: for each hypothesis. Check some KPIS as Add-to-cart rate Conversion rate, Revenue per session

Decision: Talking with team/ merch and MKT (we should understand what is the priority) and have a coherent gender page 4 How would I prioritise the changes?

- ICE score: Impact × Confidence × Ease
- Impact: High/ medium/below
- Confidence : High/ medium / below
- Ease: High/ medium / below

- After analyzing those 3 scores, we would give a priority order 1-10
